DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of group I is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the searches would be coextensive. This is not found persuasive because the searches would differ in both classification and database searching.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant's recitation of "egg" renders the claims indefinite. Given the vast number of animals which use eggs for reproduction, the term "egg" standing alone is too vague to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Applicant should specify the eggs of the invention.

Claim 1 (and many of its dependents) fail to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention because the phrases "having a characteristic" and "selectively processing" are too vague to define the invention. Please note that the language of a claim must make it clear what subject matter the claim encompasses to adequately delineate its "metes and bounds". See, e.g., the following decisions: In re Hammack, 427 F 2d. 1378, 1382, 166 USPQ 204, 208 (CCPA 1970); In re Venezia 530 F 2d. 956, 958, 189 USPQ 149, 151 (CCPA 1976); In re Goffe, 526 F 2d. 1393, 1397, 188 USPQ 131, 135 (CCPA 1975); In re Watson, 517 F 2d. 465, 477, 186 USPQ 11, 20 (CCPA 1975); In re Knowlton 481 F 2d. 1357, 1366, 178 USPQ 486, 492 (CCPA 1973).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Art Unit: 1651

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1 & 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Daum et al(6365339).

Daum teaches the removal of a sample of allantoic fluid from an avian egg and assaying that sample for estrogenic compounds in order to determine the sex of the embryo therein. The reference anticipates the claim subject matter.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b & e) as being anticipated by Hebrank (6244214).

Hebrank teaches the removal of a sample from an avian egg and assaying that sample for determination of a characteristic. The reference anticipates the claim subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daum(6365339) and Hebrank(6244214).

Daum and Hebrank teach the removal of a sample from an avian egg and assaying that sample for determination of a characteristic. Clearly it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to check the viability of the eggs before selecting them for assaying because a dead egg will be of no use. Candling in both its simplest form and also using spectroscopy is the art recognized and notoriously old and well known use for checking the viability of eggs.

The references do not teach all of applicant's claimed steps nor egg manipulations, however at the time the invention was made, all of applicant's claimed manipulations and assays, i.e. colorimetric estrogenic compound determination, were old and well known in the art of egg production and egg-based vaccine production.

Art Unit: 1651

As the references clearly indicate that the various proportions and amounts of the ingredients used in the claimed method are result effective variables, they would be routinely optimized by one of ordinary skill in the art in practicing the invention disclosed by those references.

Accordingly, the claimed invention was prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.
